Norfolk Harborfest® Drone Show Cancelled, Fireworks Display Moved to 9:30 P.M.

NORFOLK, VA – (June 8, 2019) – The Norfolk Harborfest Drone Show has been cancelled due to unfavorable weather conditions. The Norfolk Harborfest Fireworks display is still scheduled to be launched over the Elizabeth River and has been moved to the original time of 9:30 P.M.

“The winds today are just not cooperating as they continue to pick up through the evening hours with some light rain a factor as well. We function under very specific weather conditions to maintain safe operational flight aspects. Currently we have winds gusting to 22 mph with a continued forecast of it increasing. These values are at ground level and show values greater than 25mph at 200ft. The cloud ceiling is also a factor by being too low today at 700ft above the ground, in which we require a 1200ft ceiling minimum. All of these factors, forecasts, and minimum weather requirements set forth by the FAA is what we must maintain for safety and regulatory compliance. We will be back soon with an amazing show for all of you to enjoy,” explains Matt Quinn, Director of Operations at Great Lakes Drone Company.
